

TIM STEVENS

- Follower of Jesus. It's what guides his passion to ask questions and learn something from everyone. He never gets tired of it—dreaming and coloring outside the lines—always looking for a new way to communicate God's truth.
- Husband devoted to Faith, the woman who still gets his motor running after twenty years like she did the first time he saw her getting off the church bus in 1988. She complements his strengths and fills the gap.
- Father to four children in three different schools. Heather, Megan, Hunter, and Taylor keep him running between high school, middle school, elementary school, cross-country, choir, band, soccer, Awana, the Apple Store—well, you get the idea.
- Pastor on Granger Community Church's (GCCwired.com) executive leadership team since 1994, successfully blending innovative outreach and discipleship, helping thousands take their next step towards Christ. He is responsible for a staff of ninety-plus change agents that serve not only the local community but also hundreds of church plants throughout India.
- Author of the Simply Strategic book series with Tony Morgan. But, he doesn't stop there. Tim blogs about specific and practical resources at PopGoesTheChurch.com and LeadingSmart.com to equip and encourage church leaders in an ongoing conversation.
- Designer of weekend service experiences and church buildings that help create the space for people to meet God. In his free time, he keeps it going with sheds, home additions, and renovations. Carpentry and artistry are in his blood.
- Strategist who takes big vision and translates it into simple tools that help bring out the best in people and teams so they can soar.
- Geek an enthusiastic fan of technology, gadgets, and basically anything that plugs in. Is it to a sometimes excessive degree? Nah, he still does his research and uses it to connect with people. ☐)
